Lewis Fails To Attend Parley Set For Today

Informing Ching He Will Not Be Present At Parley Until Monday

SITUATION PUT UP TO PRESIDENT (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Federal Mediation Director Cyrus Ching declared today that he will call "no more meetings" to settle the soft coal dispute and apparently left the next step up to the White House.

Ching conferred with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman for an hour after John L. Lewis refused to attend a mediation meeting called for this morning by Ching.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—John L. Lewis today brusquely postponed until Monday union participation in coal-wage peace talks and Federal Mediation Director Cyrus Ching went to the White House presumably to turn the dispute over to President Truman for action.

Ching conferred with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman after Lewis ignored a government parley which had been set for 11 a. m. (EST).

President Truman at his news conference declined comment on Lewis' order sending 375,000 United Mine Workers back to the pits under a three-week truce.

No Change In Price Of Gold Says Truman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—President Truman stated categorically today that there will be no change in the United States government's price of gold so long as he occupies the White House.

The President, at his weekly news conference, slapped down repeated rumors of a contemplated change in the price of gold.

At the same time the President ridiculed another published report that he was considering increasing the size of the Supreme Court.

The President asked his questioner who was trying to do it. He added that it certainly was not himself.

Report Acheson Seeks New W. Germany Plan

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Authoritative sources disclosed today that U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson has proposed a drastic revision in the occupation statute for West Germany aimed at giving more political independence and greater prestige to the infant Bonn republic.

Acheson, it was said, has broached his plan to the foreign ministers of Britain and France, with whom he is now conferring in Paris.

The Big Three decided today to permit the foreign ministers of Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg to participate in the conference.

Interests At Stake The three nations—the Benelux group—are said to feel that their interests are directly at stake in any discussion of Germany's future.

A French spokesman said a final communiqué "most probably will be issued tonight after the Big Three night session."

He said the work is now sufficiently advanced to anticipate an end of the conference tonight.

The ministers recessed until 3:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. EST).

Report Krug To Quit Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Top government sources said today that Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug will leave President Truman's cabinet within the month.

Officialdom is unanimously convinced that Under Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman will assume the cabinet post upon announcement of Krug's resignation. It is strongly hinted that Krug may step down within the next week or two.

The secretary reportedly wishes to take a more remunerative position in private life in his engineering profession. It is not known whether he has submitted a new resignation to the President, naming a specific day on which he would like to retire.

U. S. Sub Limps To Port After Being Rammed

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 10.—(INS)—The giant U. S. submarine Tusk is limping to Argentina, Newfoundland today for emergency repairs after being rammed by a Navy supply ship 175 miles off Labrador.

The Tusk, largest and most modern of the Navy's subs, is proceeding under its own power, but with destroyer escort. It is expected to reach port Friday.

The U-boat's 38 officers and crew reportedly escaped serious injury when the Tusk was struck by the supply ship Aldebaran while the sub was submerged.

Navy officials said that the superstructure of the 1,800-ton vessel was virtually demolished and that its radar and radio equipment were knocked out of commission.

However, the hull of the sub itself apparently remained watertight.

Chest Funds Is Boosted Up To $99,334 At Noon

Good Reports Are Made By Workers In Campaign For Chest

EXPECT TO REACH HIGHER MARK SOON

New Castle's Community Chest drive is a little more than $600 short of the $100,000 mark today after four weeks of intensive campaigning.

At a report meeting in The Castleton hotel at noon, division leaders, team captains and workers upped the current total to $99,334. This represents 78 per cent of a goal set at $127,350.

Chairman J. Lepere Matthews presided at today's session and announced that it would be the last report meeting as such. However, Mr. Matthews and co-chairman Rev. Ralph E. Hovencamp urged all workers to continue working on their cards and turn in the results to the Chest office.

Still Many To Contribute

An informal survey of the division leaders revealed that there are still many cards to be turned in that would increase the total funds available for the 13 welfare agencies in the community. Several industries that have had large layoffs because of work stoppages, will be canvassed as soon as work in these plants returns to normal.

The group was cheered today by the fact that last year's drive, which did not face such economic handicaps as the current campaign, did not reach $100,000 until after December 1. Although there will not be any more formal report meetings, the leaders of the Chest drive expect to continue working and confidently believe that the end result will closely approach the goal.

Rev. Mayo To Speak

Richard E. Rentz will be master of ceremonies, and the address of the day will be given by Rev. Robert H. Mayo, pastor of the First U. P. church, who is a veteran of World War Two.

C. I. O.-Big Steel Meet In Parley On Strike End

Expected That Entire Steel Tieup Will Be At End By Monday

SHEET & TUBE CO. STRIKE IS ENDED

(BULLETIN)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Attorneys for United States Steel and the CIO-United Steelworkers met today in Pittsburgh to work out details of an agreement which would end the steel strike of 1949.

Spokesmen for the two parties revealed that only their legal counsels were in session. The union's negotiating committee was in a downtown hotel room awaiting developments, and U. S. Steel officials were also standing by.

By WILLIAM FLANNERY (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—The CIO-United Steelworkers Union, flushed with victory, meets today its chief adversary, U. S. Steel, the biggest holdout in the 41-day walkout. A settlement, by tomorrow is believed possible.

The agreement reached yesterday with Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, the fifth largest producer in the country, brought four of the nation's five major firms into line. Forty-six smaller companies have already signed contracts with the union.

Study "Big Steel" Offer Industry sources said that the union's 70-man wage and policy committee were summoned to Pittsburgh to study a secret offer from U. S. Steel, which controls 32 per cent of all steel-making capacity and had been the bellwether for the entire industry.

It was regarded likely that the entire steel tieup which at its height directly idled more than 500,000 workers will come to an end by Monday.

Observers also felt that a U. S. Steel order to resume operations at its "captive" coal mines today indicated the industry's No. 1 producer is ready to sign with the steelworkers.

Miners Ordered Back

The U. S. Steel announcement came after United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis ordered his 375,000 striking soft coal miners to return to work until Nov. 30.

Well-informed steel sources said the Lewis edict assured a com- (Continued on Page Two)

Miners Heading Back To Work

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Largely disgruntled soft coal miners—still without a contract and minus seven weeks of pay—checked—headed back to the pits today on orders from John L. Lewis.

The vanguard of the nation's 375,000 striking coal workers appeared for the most part dissatisfied with the United Mine Workers' surprise move in calling a three-week halt to the 53-day walkout. The UMW's wage policy committee in Chicago described the 21-day truce as "an act of good faith designed to contribute to public convenience." In Washington this morning, Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching meets with union and company officials. He is expected to ask both sides to resume negotiations.

Only a sprinkling of diggers showed up for the midnight shift, but the greater part of the 375,000 idle miners were expected back on the job later today.

Proclamation

Thirty-one years ago on the 11th day of November, Peace came suddenly to all the world. Those who remember that day know with what great joyfulness it came. Everyone then believed that the great conflict which had just ended could never be repeated, because surely men would never forget what had been endured through those First World War years. But with the precious return of Peace, all the world did forget, and that quite quickly, all that had been endured. And so forgetting, men everywhere neglected to study Peace—to practice its ways and to believe in the eternal ideal of Peace for which so many unknown and forgotten soldiers had endured so bitterly.

And now we have passed through a longer and harder conflict. We have endured—the whole world has endured so much more bitterly. Surely this time we will not forget. Ching, who had summoned soft coal operators and UMW leaders to a mediation parley in Washington this morning, received this terse telegram from the union president: "Ching, Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Your wire. Mine workers representation will be your office 2:30 o'clock Monday. Lewis, Chicago, Ill."

Return Under Truce

Lewis acted as his 375,000 soft-coal diggers returned to the pits under a three-week strike truce. President Truman declined comment on Lewis' action in ordering miners back into the pits until Nov. 30.

The president told his news conference that he simply had no comment on the situation. He was asked: "Do you have any plan of action if the miners quit work again after Nov. 30?" Mr. Truman said that he will cross that bridge when he comes to it.

The UMW president had been in Chicago for a meeting of the United Mine Workers 200-man policy committee which announced the three-week strike truce.

The UMW's message was received by Ching late yesterday afternoon and he replied last night. He told Lewis: "no meeting has been called for Monday" and said the union leader's message "appears not to be responsive" to the invitation to today's conference.

Ask For Clarification

Ching asked for a clarification of Lewis' reply. He said: "Apparently there is some misunderstanding which may have resulted from the delayed transmission of my wire to you. I should appreciate your clarification as soon as possible."

He has requested the representatives of the operators to extend me the courtesy of standing by in Washington until I hear from you. This wire is being sent to your Washington office because I do not know where otherwise to address you.

Lewis' whereabouts were unknown. A spokesman for Ching said the union's reply to the invitation to the mediation parley was sent from Washington although it was signed "Lewis, Chicago."

The mediation director called today's conference last Tuesday afternoon. His initial telegram to Lewis was misdirected to the UMW's Washington headquarters and did not reach the union leader until yesterday in Chicago.

Mediation service officials said they telephoned UMW headquarters without success yesterday and again this morning to seek clarification of Lewis' wire.

The mediation conference had been scheduled for 11 a. m. EST, today and Ching was expected to request Lewis and the operators to resume negotiations for "a limited time."

The miners and the producers still are far apart, however, and the changes are slim that they can reach an agreement before expiration of the strike truce on Nov. 30.

He spent ten years at Townville, Pa., coming to New Wilmington in 1937, where he has since been located.

LEWIS FAILS TO ATTEND PARLEY SET FOR TODAY

Nov. 30. Mr. Truman replied that he would cross that bridge when he came to it.

Lewis amplified his brief message to Ching stating that UMW representatives would not participate in the mediation talks until Monday with a second telegram "from the field."

The union leader explained that UMW leaders would be "fully occupied" until then securing resumption of coal production. The UMW boss added:

"Representation will be present at that time unless you notify otherwise."

Ching, who had summoned soft coal operators and UMW leaders to a mediation parley in Washington this morning, received this terse telegram from the union president:

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear father, Ignac Walczak, who passed away one year ago October 22nd, 1949.

One sad and lonely year has passed since God took you away. I have wept till I could weep no more.

When I found you could not stay, If I had all the world to give, I'd give it, Daddy dear; And more, to hear your voice and see your smile. And greet me at our door, But all I can do dear Daddy, is go and tend your grave, and leave behind my tokens of love.

To the best Daddy God ever made, And I like to think, when my life in this world is over, Where ever heaven may be, That you, Daddy dear, will be waiting at the door to welcome me.

Sadly missed by daughter CAROLYNN CATHERINE

WELFARE STATE

Quite a noise is being made nowadays about the so-called welfare state. Politicians who are trying to provide it for the people, attempt to do it by having the central government furnish free housing, security, medicine and various pensions to the people through bureaucratic control.

It sounds good but will it work? In the first place it is not new. It has been tried down through the ages—in China, in the ancient so-called Greek democracies and elsewhere in the antique era. One well-remembered example came in Rome. It started when the Gracchi brothers provided free corn for the public. Free corn was followed by free circuses and other gifts to the people. It finally got so that every other man the Roman citizen met was a tax collector. What happened? Rome fell and the world went back into the dark ages.

Hitler promised the welfare state to simon-pure Germans through national socialism in which nazism seized control of all the industry and although permitting private ownership to keep title, told ownership what it must do. We don't even have to mention what happened to Hitler.

Stalin has tried to build a welfare state in Russia. The result is an iron curtain to prevent us from knowing just how bad things are in Russia.

The latest example of the welfare state idea is produced by the socialist government in Great Britain where they are going to build it by "democratic processes." Furnishing free toupées and false teeth to the populace has been followed by tightening controls and devaluation of the currency. Laboring men are being told where they must work and how, and farmers face possibility of having their land taken from them if they don't mind the government.

Fair Dealers and socialists are advocating the welfare state in America. But we already have it. At least we have plenty of welfare here. It includes the highest standard of living in the world. The welfare is provided by private initiative and free enterprise. The only kind of welfare which is worth having is the kind we get by working for it.

PRODUCT OF RUSSIA

Coming from him, the statement that has just been made by President Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia should settle one important question posed by the coup d'etat that brought him to power. No one is in a better position, certainly, to say whether it was homegrown or imported. His admission that it was made in Moscow ought to be conclusive.

The speech containing this confession—it was an address calling on the Czech people to join in celebrating the anniversary of the Russian Bolshevik Revolution—did not put the case in precisely those terms. But it only needs to read with a proper awareness of what certain phrases mean, when used by communists, in order to be understood.

Said Gottwald: "Today it is clear as the sun that, without the mighty protection of the Soviet Union, our working people would not have been able to tear power from the hands of their one-time exploiters, install a people's democracy, and start successfully to build socialism in our country."

That is, the Czech communists would never have dared to overthrow the republic set up immediately after the war if they had not had their orders from Russia—or at least been encouraged by the pledge of Soviet support. Gottwald meant exactly that—just as he meant the communist party when he said "working people," all non-communists when he said "exploiters," and proletarian dictatorship when he said "people's democracy."

The communist vocabulary formerly confused people in free countries, as it was meant to do. It doesn't any more. That's how it happens that the headlines over the account of the Gottwald speech read: "Gottwald Admits Being Mere Puppet of Russia."

THE UNCERTAIN FRENCH

Georges Bidault, the new premier of France installed after the longest government crisis since the war, comes into office as the result of a reorganization of a loose coalition of the three moderate parties. This coalition has been in power since May, 1947, when the communists were ousted from the cabinet.

First of the critical tasks facing Bidault is to bring wages into line with prices and curb inflation. Prices have risen nearly twice as fast as wages. Since the government fixes wages, the only solution seems to be a wage rise and a club to keep prices down.

Bidault has also to devise such policies as will keep the communists on the left and the De Gaullists on the right off his neck. The De Gaullists, in the latest test last year, garnered 40 per cent of the vote and became the largest party in France.

If France doesn't improve its economic situation, the communists and the De Gaullists will crush the moderate government between them and throw France into an election. On the basis of now it is probable that the De Gaullists would win. But there is always the danger that the communists would gain control.

American expenditures to keep Europe in line in the cold war with Russia have not brought the expected results. No man can say today what the situation will be next year.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The western powers extended fresh recognition today to the military importance of Italy in any future war.

Announcement was made in Paris of a new and separate organization closely linked with the western European defense union and the North Atlantic pact.

It provides for military and civilian committees representing Great Britain, France and Italy whose prime task will be to devise means of defense for a strictly limited regional area in southern Europe and the western Mediterranean.

One committee will meet in Paris, coordinating its activities with the western military union that is beginning to function slowly but surely under the untiring leadership of Viscount Field Marshal Montgomery.

Will Sit In Italy

The other will sit in Italy. The Adriatic and Tyrrhenian seas as well as the western Mediterranean will fall within its province and in all likelihood the extent of its decisions and undertakings will be felt as far afield as the northern coast of Africa.

In that area the ports of Tripoli, Benghazi, Bizerte and Tunis are of utmost importance to the defense plans of the democracies and will remain so indefinitely.

Soviet Russia has not retreated one inch from her stand that she feels entitled to trusteeship over certain North African areas, a warm water seaport, a fortress on the Dardanelles and unimpeded passage through the straits.

Not a definite commitment has been made with regard to Italy and a somewhat more receptive ear is being turned to Generalissimo Franco and his strong arguments for the inclusion of Spain in the increasingly intricate network of defenses.

It seems likely that the present moves soon may reach a stage where they must be shrouded with a great deal more secrecy than in the past.

Viscount Montgomery is a staunch believer in the theory that the less known by the general public about military dispositions the better in the event of emergency and most military men probably will agree with him.

Up to now, Russian military con-

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FORUM ON HUMAN RELATIONS

Children like to talk with older persons, when the emotional setting is just right, about ways of winning and keeping friends. Some months ago I conducted a forum on this subject with about a hundred boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades. A stenographer recorded the questions and my answers, a few of which appear below.

Q. (girl) If you tried everything in your power to get a person to like you but she ignored you still, what would you do?

A. I would try not to be an annoyance to her, but I would not give up easily. I would study her and myself and try to make myself by and by more acceptable to her. It might take many weeks and months to accomplish this. In the meanwhile I would also cultivate interests among others of my age. My booklet, "Learning To Be Likable" might help you if I told her how and where she might get a copy, which you too may have by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Q. (boy) If you were an all-around student, how could you get other students to like you still?

A. I'd never talk about my good grades or other person's grades. I'd never hold up a paper in class with a good grade on it so others could see this grade. I'd cultivate interests and skills which others have and enjoy and try to be enthusiastic over the achievements of other pupils, not related to book success.

If Someone Falls

Q. (boy) If you happen to see someone fall and hurt himself and you are not sure if he is hurt, what should you do?

A. Apologize and ask if he were hurt. Then resolve to have yourself under better control in the future.

Q. (boy) If two boys were walking down the street and one says, "Do you like Jim?" What should you say?

A. "Of course I do." Then try to change the conversation away from discussing persons.

Q. (girl) If you are in a group of students, and someone makes a remark about somebody else and everyone starts taking sides, what should you do?

A. Say nothing unless you can honestly say something good about this person. Try to divert the conversation away from discussion of persons. Picking apart another person who is not present is a low type of conversation too childish for one who is growing up intelligently to engage in. Besides it puts ugliness into the gossipers.

Q. (girl) What if you make good grades and your best friend doesn't make such good grades, but you both like to discuss the grades.

A. The chances are that only you really like to discuss the grades. The friend appears to like to do so to please you. It would be selfish of you ever to bring up the subject and not to try always to change the conversation when some other persons bring this matter up. When with that friend, often talk about some of the ways in which she excels.

Sense Of Humor

Q. (boy) If you had a friend who could not take a joke how might you help him to take a joke in the future?

A. By being sure you set him a good example yourself, and by complimenting him as you see him gaining a bit in this direction. You also might take note of the kind of jokes he must endure from among your friends and whether they tend to "gang" up on him. If you find them unfair to him, you might tactfully call this matter to their attention.

Q. (boy) If you were walking past a group of pupils and you heard a remark about yourself, should you overlook it?

A. Of course.

trol of her satellites has varied in different cases.

Under questioning, the Soviets say they are maintaining such forces in Hungary, Romania and elsewhere to "protect lines of communication."

The presence of large Russian forces in eastern Germany is entirely legitimate, of course, under agreements reached by Moscow and the western allies during and after the war.

Whether there is any legal or international precedent for the appointment of Rokossovsky to Warsaw is problematical. The Russians have made much of the fact that Rokossovsky is of Polish descent and enormously popular with the Polish people.

Definite Indications

Be that as it may, there are definite indications that old-line Polish army officers resent the intrusion of the marshal who stepped with one great stride from the military barracks of Moscow to a Warsaw palace.

It is clear that the Polish and other moves by the Soviet Union have had an impelling effect upon the various organizations and committees made responsible for western European defense.

Preparations are going forward at an accelerated pace. Far less is heard of deep-seated differences between Montgomery and French Gen. Jean de Latre de Tassigny, who holds the post of commander-in-chief of all allied land forces.

Not a definite commitment has been made with regard to Italy and a somewhat more receptive ear is being turned to Generalissimo Franco and his strong arguments for the inclusion of Spain in the increasingly intricate network of defenses.

It seems likely that the present moves soon may reach a stage where they must be shrouded with a great deal more secrecy than in the past.

Viscount Montgomery is a staunch believer in the theory that the less known by the general public about military dispositions the better in the event of emergency and most military men probably will agree with him.

Most of the defense steps thus far have been open and publicized precisely opposite from the Soviet method of extreme secrecy and misleading announcements. It now begins to appear that the whole structure of democratic defense is entering the confidential stage.

One of Editor Clip Boutell's best yarns concerns the time John Woodburn dined copiously at a nobby restaurant in Rockefeller Center, and then found he had left his wallet at home. The manager let him sign a check for the amount, and a few mornings later a little man arrived at John's publishing office to present it for collection. "The man said who he was but I just couldn't believe it," the receptionist told Woodburn. "Finally I made him write it down. Look!" Woodburn wrote. The slip read in a wavering scrawl, "Louis XIV."

In Cleveland, Burrows Brothers' Charlie Jackson, the only case of 100 per cent Scotch left in Ohio, is reputed to have been a principal in a minor motor accident. "The other driver was Irish. 'Aye,' said Charlie, 'but noo until the copsve come.'"

Myron T. Herrick was born at Huntington, O., Oct. 9, 1854. Banking and manufacturing interested him, and then he turned his attention to politics. He declined appointment as secretary of the Treasury under President William McKinley. In 1912 he accepted President William Howard Taft's appointment as ambassador to France. He returned to America in December, 1914, and devoted time to war relief activities. He was appointed ambassador to France in 1921 and served until his death in Paris on March 31, 1929.

John Drew was born in Philadelphia Nov. 13, 1853. His parents being theater managers, he made his first appearance on the stage at his parents' theater in "Cool As a Cucumber." He was a noted Hamlet and starred in many other Shakespeare plays. Some of his plays that old-time theatergoers will remember are "The Tyranny of Tears," "Richard Carvel," "The Mummy and the Hummingbird," "Rosenary" and "The School for Scandal." He died in 1927—July 9.

Washington Calling

Need Economic Policy In Germany

COLOGNE, Germany, Nov. 10.—Four years ago last March American forces captured this industrial city on the Rhine. War correspondents who came in with the first contingent of military government found a stinking, smoldering ruin. Half the population of nearly 800,000 had fled across the Rhine and the other half existed in cellars and air raid shelters.

With a fine, bold prophetic sweep I wrote at that time that Germany was finished as an industrial nation for 30 years. Viewing the shambles of what seemed a dead city, I went on to say that 30 years was too conservative and the question was whether the Germans ever could approach their former position.

That was the current view induced by the claims made in behalf of mass bombing of German cities. It was seconded by the hasty estimates of Army engineers who said on that first day at Cologne, for example, that 90 per cent of the city's industry was destroyed.

Prophecy Inaccurate

You need to take only one look at Cologne today to see that this prophecy was slightly inaccurate. No complicated statistics are necessary. All you have to do is to see the lines of cars and big trucks passing over the four rebuilt bridges to get an idea of what has happened.

German production today is said to be about 80 per cent of the pre-war level. But it must be higher than that in Cologne.

The total output of Cologne's diverse industry was recently estimated at a rate of $20,000,000 annually. More than 250 trains a day leave the still partially ruined central station. Cologne's factories are making every conceivable product—radios, refrigerators, chemicals, machine tools.

Ruins are still conspicuous in the business and residence areas. The nearly 600,000 inhabitants are desperately short of housing although apartments are being built or repaired at the rate of 400 a month. But the extraordinary fact is the revival of Germany's industry of which the Rhine basin is an outstanding example. That fact lies back of the irritating, incessant argument over dismantling and, to a lesser degree, over de-cartelization.

Increasing German competition in Europe and in the world will not make French and British industrialists any happier. Significantly enough, while German production is at 80 per cent of pre-war, German exports are only about 60 per cent.

The question of dismantling is

BIBLE THOUGHT

For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away? For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his own glory, and in his Father's and of the holy angels.—Luke 9: 25, 26.

a complicated and touchy one. Recently when American High Commissioner John J. McCloy expressed "personal views" carried in newspaper accounts suggesting the need to re-examine and perhaps revise the dismantling program, he stirred a hornet's nest in Great Britain.

Certainly re-examination would seem to be essential. Even the passing observer can see that there are phases of the program for eliminating Germany's war potential that are anomalous and absurd.

For example, a plant in Berlin was stripped once by the Russians. It was built up again with some aid from the West. Now it is being dismantled on order of the western allies.

Particular Example
That particular example is brought up repeatedly by both German and Allied officials. It so happens that the plant makes the equipment essential to keep Berlin's battered sewage and water system functioning.

American aid through the Economic Co-Operation Administration is going to construct, or reconstruct, plants to refine petroleum for the German internal economy. At the same time Germany's synthetic gasoline plants are being dismantled.

Granted that the tripartite control makes for almost insuperable difficulties. Yet again and again within the framework of America's own policy, not alone in Germany but in the rest of Europe, you come up against such anomalies. Too often the right hand is making one motion while the left hand moves in the opposite direction. This seems to me to suggest the urgent need for a co-ordinated economic policy that will stop the conflicts and thereby eliminate the waste of energy and wealth going to contrary ends.

For the overworked Americans who are doing the day-to-day job it is almost impossible to get an over-all view of the American aims as they relate to American effort in Europe. But such a view is supremely important at this halfway point in the attempt to build a partnership between Europe and America.

One Man's Opinion

A strange case is reported in Malaya of a man who has been married 31 times in eight years and is still living.

He claims he gets a marriage and divorce complete for $3.60. In this is just a trick to cut prices in Reno.

But if it is so, Malaya sounds like the place for a fellow who has $12.50 a year to plunge on excitement.

All this has been going on quietly while television has been showing us pictures of sheep-shearing in Australia.

I see J. Arthur Rank has threatened to stop making movies unless he can do as well at the box office as his government does at the tax office.

And he can be excused for his resentment. He's not paying James Mason to look romantic for Sir Stafford Cripps.

Another Give Away Custom

(By Henry McLeMORE)

My mind is so delicately balanced that it takes almost nothing to disturb it.

Today it is wobbling like a ball on a fixed roulette wheel all because of an item brought to my attention by our free and glorious press.

The item concerns President Truman giving to CIO President Philip Murray the pen with which he signed the new minimum hourly wage bill.

According to my statistics, which are just as unreliable as you'll find anywhere, Mr. Truman's gift to the CIO chieftain was the 9,634,332nd pen given away by presidents of the United States.

Washington Started It

George Washington started it when he gave Baron von Steuben the pen with which he signed an order at Valley Forge banning the throwing of snowballs at officers by enlisted men. The pen, incidentally, was the first to be guaranteed to write under snow.

Thus was established the precedent for pen-giving-away by presidents, and the second president, John Adams, kept it going by giving his wife, Abigail, the pen he used in signing a check for the purchase of a new top hat.

The fever for giving away pens increased in each succeeding president, and reached a height in Franklin D. Roosevelt. He signed more papers than any other president, and thus had more pens to hand out. I don't know how much truth there is in it, but I have heard that at one time or another a quarter of the population of our country either had a pen with which FDR had signed a state paper, or was a relative of someone who did.

Coolidge Blocked Gifts

The only reason that the number of pens given away does not top 10,000,000 is due to the fact that the late Calvin Coolidge spent a span in the White House. If he gave away so much as one pen no one knows anything about it. Apparently Mr. Coolidge worked on the theory that pens were as much the property of the government as public parks, say, and that he did not have any right to hand them out as souvenirs any more than he did the bears in Yellowstone Park.

It seems to me that Congress could effect a substantial saving by passing a bill forbidding the free distribution of pens by the President and other high officials. Either that, or by passing a law requiring that pencils instead of pens be used in the signing of state documents.

It's lucky that presidents don't use typewriters to sign papers. That really would run into a staggering sum.

I don't know what the 9,634,332 pens have cost the taxpayers but it is a considerable amount. I would think that presidents use good pens, and good pens don't grow on trees.

Of course, there is an outside chance that President Truman's give-away pens aren't costing the taxpayers a penny, because he has General Vaughan around, and a man who can hustle deep freezers shouldn't have any trouble promoting a few pens.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Here is a question which comes to my desk so often that I am sure the same problem is in the minds of thousands of others who don't write to me.

"How can I keep up my faith in my religion and in the efficacy of prayer, when God does not answer my prayers?"

There is, of course, no scientific answer anyone could give.

Faith is not a science like engineering, medicine or chemistry. Faith is one of those indefinable characteristics that set the human being apart from the rest of the animal world.

Faith does not say "I know." It says "I believe."

The best answer I can give to those who tell me that God does not answer their prayers and that they have become shaky in their faith and their religion is: "Are you praying to God or are you trying to bribe Him?"

A prayer may well be bribery. Haven't you heard mothers tell their children to bribe God?

Nonsense, you say?

Well, let's see.

My own mother was a deeply religious woman.

She admonished me to say my prayers every night, and saw to it that I did.

Whenever I wanted something badly—a new toy, a gun, a train, a bicycle—she'd say to me:

"When you say your prayers tonight you tell the Lord that you will be a good boy and perhaps He'll bring you what you ask Him for."

My mother was a good mother and she meant well.

But, like so many thousands of mothers—and fathers—she had the mistaken idea that God could be bribed with promises of goodness, or gifts.

Capt. Crommelin Will Continue Policy Attack

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A hot retort by Capt. John G. Crommelin served notice today that the reprimanded navy officer will continue to fight for congressional reform of Pentagon policy. The first punch in his new campaign is expected on Armistice Day, when he is scheduled to speak in Montgomery, Ala., on the subject "National Defense is Everybody's Business."

Crommelin, after a month's suspension for making public confidential navy letters, was rebuked by Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, and ordered back to duty Tuesday without a court martial.

His new duty is as naval aviation officer at San Francisco. He is believed to have lost all chance for a promotion to rear admiral for which he would have been in line Nov. 14.

Colombia Under State Of Siege

Attempt Is Made To Halt Pre-Election Violence In Country

BULLETIN
BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A state of siege held the republic of Colombia in an iron grip today following discovery of an alleged plot by liberal elements to overthrow the regime of President Mariano Ospina Perez.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The republic of Colombia was under a state of siege today in an attempt to halt pre-election violence which has claimed several hundred lives during the past few weeks.

The government order closed the congress and placed a gag on all communications. The circulation of newspapers was restricted. President Mariano Ospina Perez's conservative government ordered a 9 o'clock curfew and a large number of troops were ordered into the nation's capital to maintain order.

Dario Echandia, liberal presidential candidate, withdrew his name from the scheduled Nov. 27 election with the charge that the government was responsible for the political bloodshed during the pre-election campaigning.

The conservatives in turn charged that the state of siege was necessary because the liberals were planning new uprisings.

NATIONAL CAT WEEK OBSERVED

Siamese cat of Mrs. William Lee Knight, of R. D. 5, aptly illustrates "national cat week" which is being observed this week. The one- and a-half-year-old feline who responds to "Tooper", is a pedigree animal and tips the scale at 10 pounds. Tooper has very blue eyes and is distinctive in his seal point color of light tan, shades of black and black tail. The breed, according to Mrs. Knight, is of the very "nosey" type and are very good hunters.

Optimists Have Dinner Meeting

Members Celebrate Optimist
Week With Fine Program Wednesday
Evening

Optimist club met Wednesday evening at a dinner meeting in the Leslie hotel to celebrate the 13th annual Optimist Week.

Rev. A. E. Simon opened the meeting by reading the Optimist creed. President Carl Anderson then turned the meeting over to Ted Marlin, Optimist Week chairman.

Mr. Marlin introduced the guests and guest speakers.

Mayor John Haven was first speaker on the program and spoke on the work being done by the Optimist club. He said that we must all help carry on the work to help the youth of the city and thanked the club for the wonderful work they have done in New Castle.

William Pontius, president of the Tri-County Future Farmers of America, spoke of the work that the young men are doing today in the agriculture field.

Sam Frank, of the Builders, spoke on youth activities and introduced Donald Turner, president of the Builders, who gave an account of the activities of the local organization.

Scouts Guests
John Lawson, field scout representative, spoke on scout activities and introduced Cub Master Harry D. Hasely, Cub Jimmy Hasely, Scoutmaster Clinton Kennedy and Boy Scouts Bob Kennedy, Gene Brotemarkle and Joe Olney.

Gus Slovinsky, advisor of the A.Z.A., spoke on the work they are doing for this youth organization and introduced David Alter, who gave an interesting monologue.

Dave Gatrall, of the YMCA, praised the work of the Optimists and thanked the members for donating basketballs, boards and equipment for the Y camp.

Rev. A. E. Simon spoke for the Optimist club on "Take Home Pay." His talk concerned the youth of today and what must be done for them. He stressed the importance of giving so much time to the improvement of yourself that you won't have time to criticize others.

Chairman Marlin outlined plans for the balance of Optimist Week. He gave the history of the New Castle club, which was organized in May, 1946. He said that although this is the 13th annual Optimist Week, it is only the third for the local club.

President Carl Anderson introduced special guests Richard McKee and Paul Reed and spoke briefly, thanking the guests and Chairman Ted Marlin for the fine program.

The meeting was closed by the singing of "America" led by Rev. Simon.

Two Attacked, One Youth In Hospital

According to Kanaram's report to police, the young men were beating and kicking Dalelock when he came along and he said it was unfair, whereupon the gang assaulted him.

Police received a report from the hospital today that Dalelock was in only a fair condition.

Kanaram has sworn to an information against the men at the office of Alderman J. C. Kennedy.

Frediani Speaks To Kiwanis Club

Local Merchant Tells Kiwanians Of Observations On Trip To Italy

SAYS MARSHALL PLAN IS NEEDED

Angelo Frediani, local merchant, gave Kiwanis club members an interesting talk on his recent trip to Italy, speaking entertainingly on his observations there, at the weekly noon luncheon meeting of the club in The Castleton Wednesday noon.

Mr. Frediani stated that the plight of the common people of Italy is still desperate and that in his opinion the aid furnished under the Marshall Plan should be continued to avert encroachment of the Communists in Italy.

Wages Too Low
The working man in Italy still does not have enough to live on, the average wage of around $1.50 per day being insufficient to feed and clothe him, and as a result he is dragging out a miserable existence. If it had not been for the help furnished the people by the citizens of America, the people of Italy would still be dead.

People who were born in another country do not appreciate America, he stated, as much as those who come from another land, or those who have visited some of the European countries which were hard hit by the war. He never fully appreciated the meaning of the words of "Home Sweet Home" or "God Bless America," he stated, until he steamed into New York harbor and saw the Statue of Liberty with her welcoming hand outstretched.

Communists Are Threat
The Communists, he stated, are still playing on the need of the people for a better standard of living and are offering them additional land, from ground which would be confiscated from the landed class, as bait for their support. He stated that it had not been for the thousands of letters sent to relatives by people of Italian extraction residing here, and for the material help furnished, Italy might have gone Communist. He hoped this would continue through the coming elections in Italy, he stated.

Clothing and food is plentiful in Italy, he stated, for those who can afford to pay for it. Clothing is slightly higher there than it is in this country, and a working man on a top wage of $2.50 per day is hard put to buy such things. In many places in the smaller towns he saw many people going barefoot. Industries are going along pretty well but have to have outside financing to keep them going, he stated. Too many things in Italy, such as the railroads, etc., are owned by the government. Italy lost much rail equipment and similar things during the war, which were carried off by the Germans. As a result there are fewer trains, and no luxury trains.

Plans were made by the club for the observance of National Kiddies Day next week.

Charges Truman Leading Nation Toward Bankruptcy

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Senate Republican Leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska declared today that the federal deficit for the next fiscal year will be 12 billion dollars.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the National Retail Lumber Dealers' association, Wherry charged the Truman administration with leading the nation toward "bankruptcy more devastating than the atomic bomb."

The GOP leader estimated that the government will operate six billion dollars in the red during the fiscal year ending next June 30. He said without further explanation that the deficit will be double that amount in the following 12 months.

Sunday Movies Given Approval In 57 Communities

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's blue laws today were on their halting way to limbo as 57 communities approved Sunday movies in Tuesday's election. But 23 other municipalities tenaciously stuck to restrictions on the showing of moving pictures on the Sabbath in local option elections throughout the state.

Dale borough, Cambria county, refused to outlaw movies already permissible.

Four communities went along in the liberalizing trend and approved Sunday baseball and football games while Jermyn borough, Lackawanna county, voted in favor of continuing Sunday sports. Only Pen Argyl, Northampton county, voted against Sunday sports. Williamsport, Pottsville, Sunbury, Stroudsburg, Uniontown, Kittanning and Doylestown were among those communities voting in favor of Sunday movies. Those against included Bloomsburg, Carlisle, Lewistown, Hanover and Paxtang.

Plan Of Payment Of State Bonus To Be Outlined

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The commonwealth's plan for payment of the bonus will be outlined to 25 state commanders of veterans organizations November 15. Adj. Gen. Frank A. Weber said today.

Weber said veterans posts will be asked to assist in distributing application forms and to set up information stations concerning payment.

A state wide system of distribution of forms has been mapped and will be revealed when the applications are available.

A special agency known as the World War II veterans compensation bureau has been organized to process applications and administer payments under direction of Clyde E. Rankin, Philadelphia, deputy adjutant general for veterans affairs.

Weber emphasized no one will be favored with early payments. The checks will be issued in order of receipt of mailed applications. Harrisburg was designated the bonus distribution center.

Shah Of Iran To Arrive In U.S. To Ask For Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—American officials are prepared today to lend an attentive ear to an expected plea by the Shah of Iran for U. S. military and economic aid.

The potentate, whose middle eastern country borders the Soviet Union, is due in Washington next Wednesday for a state visit. His Imperial Majesty Mohammad Reza Pahlavi will be the official guest of President Truman and will be accorded all the ceremony due a royal visitor.

The youthful Shah is expected to deviate from the diplomatic channels usually taken by visiting dignitaries and ask bluntly for American aid in the development of his nation.

E. L. DAVENPORT JR. WED IN MARYLAND

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Messerly, York, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Pauline Mae, to Edward L. Davenport, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Davenport, Sr., of Somerville, N. J., former residents of New Castle.

St. Luke's Lutheran church in Silver Springs, Md., was the scene of the wedding on November 5 at 4 o'clock. Rev. Robert E. Lee officiated at the ceremony and a dinner was held at historic Iron Gate Inn in Washington, D. C.

Given in marriage by her father, Millard H. Messerly, the bride wore a street length dress of white brocade satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, a mandarin neckline and full skirt. White accents complemented the costume. She carried a white prayer book, gift of the groom, topped by a white orchid and white streamers knotted with ferns.

Mrs. Mildred Hutcherson, friend of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant for the bride. She wore a slate blue satin dress with brown accessories.

C. L. Benedum of Silver Springs, Md., served the groom as best man and ushering were Lloyd Wright and Russell Putnam, both of Silver Springs.

Mrs. Davenport was graduated from York high school, attended George Washington university and is employed at David Taylor Model Basin, Cartersville, Md. in the computing department. BLARNEY STONE TALE IS LOT OF BLARNEY

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The reported theft in San Francisco of a piece of Ireland's Blarney stone was just plain blarney to one man who should know.

James Cummins of San Francisco reported that he had a 15-pound stone shipped by plane from Cork, Ireland. It was set up in a church basement and widely publicized as having come from Blarney castle itself, then it was stolen.

But Oliver Colthurst, nephew of the owner of Blarney castle, told International News Service by telephone:

"I assure you that no part or piece of the original Blarney stone has been sent to San Francisco."

Of the 15-pound stone in San Francisco, he commented: "It must be a phoney."

Concert Season Commences With Dramatic Program

New Castle Symphony Orchestra Begins Winter Concerts With Brilliant Program

CASBERO CAPABLY DIRECTS MUSICIANS

Wednesday night's concert of the New Castle Symphony orchestra, with Anthony Casbero conducting at the Cathedral auditorium, convinced those who heard it that New Castle has an orchestra which it is proud to call its own.

In a program which brought musical enjoyment to the entire audience, since the program contained music to suit all tastes, it left no doubt as to the need of such an organization in our community.

The orchestra received an ovation at the opening concert of its second season last night and the enthusiastic audience stimulated the orchestra to greater heights than yet attained. New Castle folk by encouraging a symphony orchestra places itself with the leadership of communities that appreciate the value of good music. Music teaches values that are the foundation of American life.

Expert Directing
The first steps in improving an orchestra cannot be taken by the players themselves. They cannot acquire good musicianship without expert, flexible, understanding guidance. Mr. Casbero, the possessor of a dynamic personality, absorbed himself in the style and mood inherent in the music played last night, and the contrasts of shading and tone made each number a masterpiece in itself. The orchestra was unflinching in its response to his sensitive movements.

The program offered music for a diversity of tastes, and it would be difficult to choose which numbers were most favorably received by the audience. Liveliness and freshness characterized the opening number, "Overture to Zampa". Of perfect workmanship and charming for its melodic line and grace of form was the "Symphony No. 6 in G Major", better known as the "Sunrise Symphony". It sparkles with its intrinsic beauty and charm. In strong comparison is the bold, burly power of the "March of the Meistersingers". The assertive theme well typifies the character of the famous Meistersinger guild.

After a brief intermission, Mr. Casbero began the second half of the excellent program with the light, spirited "Moods Americana". The American scene is portrayed in a modern, skillful composition by the young Cleveland composer, Gerald Humel. The haunting opening theme of "Largo from the New World Symphony" will linger in the memory of the audience for time to come. There is no question as to the greatness of the symphony.

Imagine Dancers
One can imagine gay Spanish dancers twirling their skirts to the melodies of the "El Relicario". Just as books can tell you about a country, so in music you can hear what a country sounds like. "Tales from the Vienna Woods," the unforgettable waltz by Strauss, shows Viennese gaiety and spirit so evident in all his works.

A fitting tribute to all countries was displayed in the Fantasy "Salute to the United Nations". Several anthems of various countries were featured in this lively number. The continuous applause of the audience did not cease, and Mr. Casbero and the orchestra played several encores, ending with the bright and spirited "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa. The audience was still humming the familiar airs as they reluctantly made their way from the auditorium.

On the face of last night's performance, it promises well for future performance, and future listeners too. Behind the successful concert of last night lies patient and devoted work by the players and supporters of the orchestra. Weekly rehearsals have been held since the fall of 1948.

On Wednesday afternoon the orchestra was heard in a matinee concert for the school children and the reaction of the children left no doubt they will welcome good music if given the opportunity of hearing it. Mr. Casbero believes in exposing children to as good music as possible. The school authorities are to be commended for their cooperation in giving the opportunity to the school children of hearing such fine music.

Rules Woman Can Testify Against Her Husband Now

DETROIT, Nov. 10. (INS)—Federal Judge Theodore Levin of Detroit ruled a woman may now testify in court against her husband.

Judge Levin pointed out in his nine-page opinion that "under our more enlightened times the tendency of the law is to let a woman stand on her own and let her sue and be sued."

The opinion was returned in the case of George Gordon Graham who was accused by his librarian wife of cheating her out of $17,000. Mrs. Graham was allowed to testify.

Isn't America A Wonderful Country!

All over the world today there are people teaching bitterness and hate.

Here in America we have learned to live together in friendship.

For us here at A&P, it has been a wonderful and thrilling experience to get from those with whom we compete day after day such astounding evidence of friendship and respect.

The things that have happened since the anti-trust lawyers from Washington brought suit to destroy A&P have amazed us.

While we sincerely believed that we had earned the friendship of millions of consumers for whom we have provided better food at lower prices, and the friendship of millions of farm families for whom we have provided a better market for their produce, we were not prepared for the avalanche of offers of support.

But most of all, we have to confess that we had underestimated the fine sportsmanship of many of our competitors all over the country.

Can anyone believe that these competitors would rush to our defense if, as the anti-trust lawyers allege, we had been trying to put them out of business?

We and they have fought hard for business.

There are nearly 350,000 individual grocers competing with us. They have a larger share of the nation's grocery business today than they had ten years ago or twenty years ago.

Many of them do as good a job as we do, and they make it plenty tough for us.

Now, day after day, these same competitors are letting us know that they are in our corner.

All we can say is, thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Isn't America A Wonderful Country!

Who hollered for Uncle?

Who wants him to break up A&P?

COULD IT BE INDEPENDENT GROCERS? Doesn't seem likely. In ten years America's independent storekeepers almost tripled their business. In 1938 they did just under $1½ billion dollars worth of food business. Last year the independent storekeepers handled over 15 billion dollars worth of food.

WHOLESALE GROCERS? Hardly. For many of them are directly or indirectly engaged in or supporting some form of voluntary or cooperative chain to match chain economies.

THE EMPLOYEES? That would be funny—except that some folks probably believe it. Actually, less than 25 years ago many food chain stores could have paid all expenses—rent, heat, light, wages, etc.—out of the money a store manager alone gets paid now. And the store manager of 25 years ago would have been happy to get what a clerk gets today.

PRODUCERS? Well, take farmers. Certainly part of their prosperity must be attributed to the markets that big chains create for them. The big chains buy the entire pack of many a cannery. Those canneries pack the farmers' crops. What would the farmer do with his highly perishable crop if the food chains were eliminated as big volume buyers?

COMPETING CHAINS, MAYBE? No. Practically every chain in the grocery business had more sales last year than the year before. One chain that we know a lot about increased its food business 21% last year and is up 19% in the first eight months of this year.

THEN IT CERTAINLY MUST BE THE PEOPLE! Like fun. If the people hated food chain stores, would they have spent 9½ billion dollars in them last year? Folks like the low prices and high standards of chains—and the better the chains are run, the better folks like them.

Does This Sound as Though We Need Help? Thorofare Super Markets came into existence 10 years ago. The food chains Thorofare replaced were doing about three million dollars worth of business a year. Housewives liked our policies well enough to boost their purchases in our 90 stores to about 30 million dollars a year.

We call that a vote of confidence. And we're going to keep right on proving that as long as we stick to good brands and better-than-average selections at rock-bottom prices, we can compete with anybody in the business. And keep right on growing, too!

We don't believe any chain will be punished for being efficient, or for pleasing housewives so well that it is forced to grow.

We, too, believe that it is a storekeeper's duty to bring the public the best food at the lowest possible prices, and hope to see the chain store way of doing business vindicated.

And as long as the producers, the employees, the customers, the wholesale grocers, the independents and the competing chains thrive so well, we will continue to think it's a good way to do business.

We Don't Want the A&P Put Out of Business

The owner of the undersigned store is an independent merchant in this community. We run our own store, set our own prices, maintain our own policy.

We consider the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. as a chain store. Because they are a chain they give us stiff competition. The competition offered by the A&P keeps us on our toes.

The Department of Justice has brought a suit against the A&P claiming that the A&P is a monopoly.

Whether it is or not we are in no position to judge.

What we do know is that the A&P doesn't do all of the grocery business in this area. We are here and ready to serve local customers.

WE DON'T WANT TO SEE THE A&P PUT OUT OF BUSINESS.

The A&P is keeping food prices down. We in turn keep our prices down; and that helps us to sell more goods.

KUGLER'S
SUPER-FOOD MARKET
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

I Welcome A&P Competition BECAUSE

• • • • • like myself, many hundreds of independent grocers got their start with the TEA COMPANY.

• • • • • The great A&P is not detrimental to the progress of the grocery business. On the contrary, A&P has always been beneficial to any open-minded businessman who believes in FREE ENTERPRISE. Founded on the principle of FAIR PLAY and FAIR PRICES, A&P developed from a humble start to its present commanding position in the field of retail merchandising.

• • • • • My experience as a former employee of the TEA COMPANY has served me well. I attribute my success to the ideas and methods tried, tested and proven by the A&P stores—at a great cost.

• • • • • A&P upholds the rights and privileges of a good worker. I know this from personal experience. A&P is ever on the lookout to promote sincere and ambitious employees to trustworthy and important positions and has never crossed the efforts of any employee to enter into business for himself. A&P helped me to start in business. . . IS THAT AN ACT OF A COMPANY MONOPOLIZING THE GROCERY BUSINESS? NO!

A&P taught me to serve the public BETTER—MORE ECONOMICAL and MORE EFFICIENT, thanks to the start given me by B. F. VINSON.

• • • • • During the depression of the thirties, A&P paid higher wages than any other chain. A&P has striven to keep up the standard of living in this country. I shudder to think what would happen to its 110,000 employees if it was forced out of business.

• • • • • I am not afraid of A&P competition—I welcome it. It's democratic—it's the American Way.

We Agree With A&P

Yes, we want our A&P competitors to stay in business on their present scale because we know what it would mean to the American people without them. We are only one store and are striving to serve our community with good food at low prices, but the A&P is a nationwide organization serving the American people everywhere with good food at low prices.

Destroying the A&P would mean eliminating competition nationally in the food field which every poor man knows consumes the major portion of his salary.

We congratulate the A&P for a job well done. Keep up the fight.

We welcome any fair competition which helps us bring lower food prices to the consumer.

A COMPETITOR'S OPINION of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

The self-styled "trust busters" of the government recently made headlines as a result of a move to destroy the A&P.

Frankly, we don't like it. A&P is charged with having control of SOME of the production and processing ends of the food business. As a result, they can offer foods at low prices.

So What . . . And if monopoly of the food business is charged, that sure hands us a laff. We . . . at P.P.M. are growing like wildfire. Seems like we're able to sell better foods at better prices.

Your increasing patronage of our stores is positive proof that A&P has no monopoly on the food business. Let's get down to good old American horse sense. A&P is doing a good job of serving the people of this country. They're no bogey men. We are for them 100% in this controversy.

Western Europe Warned On Aid

Told That Economic Union
Demanded For Further
Marshall Plan Money

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee cautioned western Europe today that without an economic union it may have trouble getting further Marshall Plan money.

Rep. Mansfield (D) Mont., said that Congress expects the recipients of European Recovery Plan funds to tear down their trade barriers and encourage the free flow of commerce.

Mansfield stated that unless this is done there would be increased difficulty in getting Congress to vote further billions of dollars for Europe's economic recovery. He declared:

"Congress is going to expect definite results from the Europeans along the lines of an economic union. From now on it's going to be a case of results or else."

"If such results are not forthcoming, doubts will be created in the minds of proponents of the Marshall Plan."

A third-year installment on the Marshall Plan probably is the major problem to face Mansfield's Committee when Congress reconvenes Jan. 3.

Mansfield said there is strong sentiment both in and out of Congress for a European Economic Union on the theory that this would help promote trade and speed recovery.

THE GIRL THAT GRANDMA WAS

Grandma is over 80 years old. She reared a large family and did a good job. She has numerous grandchildren and some greats, too.

She has some old photos. She had them taken when she was a girl. She was pretty and she was stylish. The pictures do not show what she looked like at all. The kids say that they are old-fashioned. They laugh at the hats and the sleeves and the long skirts.

Times have changed since grandma was a girl.

At that time tuberculosis was common. A person had a cold or something and after a while it "went into consumption."

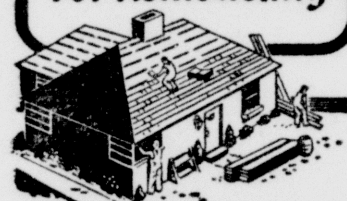

Nowadays we consider tuberculosis to be a communicable disease whether it is mild or severe. It is catching.

It is the same disease as ever, but times have changed. Grandma's old photos look all right to her but not to the kids.

Nowadays the doctors do not want anybody to have consumption.

PROPHET FORTELLS JESUS' REJECTION BY MEN

Scripture — Isaiah 42:1-4; 50:4-9; 52:13-53:12; Jeremiah 42:1-13.

Golgotha.

"Be strong and of good courage . . . for Jehovah thy God is with thee."—Joshua 1:9

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Prophets never have been popular. They are not well liked even today, especially when they prophesy disaster.

We all shy away from the men (or women) who tell us disagreeable truths whether they be about our individual selves or our city, state or nation.

The subject of today's lesson really is the prophesy in the Book of Isaiah of the coming of Jesus, the Saviour. This prophesy was made about 712 B. C., several hundred years before the coming of Jesus, but it describes Him and His rejection by men of His day, just as the events occurred.

Isaiah presents God's delight in His servant—"Mine elect in whom My mind delighted; I have put My spirit upon him; he shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles."

"He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment in the earth; and the isles shall wait for his law."

By the "isles" which wait for his law, we are told that "nations" is meant, which were and still are (many of them) waiting for the gospel.

The six verses in Chapter 50 assigned to us today, give Isaiah's picture of the treatment accorded to even the greatest of the prophets. "The Lord hath given me the tongue of the learned," he writes.

"The Lord God hath opened mine ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away my back. I gave my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from shame and spitting."

For the Lord God will help me; therefore shall I not be confounded; therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed."

The prophesy of the Lord's coming is in Isaiah 53.

"Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?"

"For He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant, and as a and his grave would have been with the despised, except that a rich man, Joseph of Arimathea, begged for His body and laid it in his own tomb.

Jeremiah was another of the old prophets who suffered for his courage in telling his people the hateful truth.

The Babylonians were about to overrun the kingdom, but Jeremiah's enemies told the king he must be put to death because "he weakeneth the hands of the men of war that remain in the city."

King Zedekiah, lacking courage told them to do with the prophet what they would, and they bound and let him down into a deep, dark, damp dungeon, where he would have died shortly.

One of the king's household, an eunuch named Ebedmelech, an Ethiopian, went to the king and told him of Jeremiah's plight, and the king empowered him to get 30 men and draw the prophet from the dungeon, which he did.

New Jersey Voters

Turn Down Bonus

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—(INS)—New Jersey citizens have turned down a state bonus for 560,501 veterans of World War 2 in the state, principally because of the proposed imposition of a new franchise tax on business to finance it.

With practically all of the state's 3,710 election districts reported, the $105,000,000 soldiers' bonus bond issue was defeated by a vote of 309,989 to 269,402.

The state had planned to pay veterans of World War 2 with domestic service up to $150, and vets with foreign service up to $250. The proposed gross receipts tax was at the rate of $1 per $1,000 on business and the entire program was opposed by industrialists and other business interests.

The U.S. rapid transit industry carried a number of passengers in 1948 equal to about 10 times the population of the earth.

C.I.O. Candidate

Loses In Detroit

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—(INS)—For the fourth time since 1937 the CIO was rebuffed in its attempt to elect a Detroit mayor.

Council President George Edwards, a former UAW-CIO organizer, was soundly beaten by City Treasurer Albert E. Cobo for the post to be vacated by Mayor Eugene Van Antwerp.

Almost complete returns from the motor city's 1,368 precincts gave:

Cobo, 296,062.

Edwards, 197,649.

The campaign was marked by the efforts of the 35-year-old Edwards to by-pass the non-Partisan election system adopted in 1918. He aimed his appeal at Democratic voters but failed to obtain any organized support from that party.

Cobo, 55, who has been city treasurer for 15 years, campaigned mainly on his promise to give Detroit a "business-like" administration.

World Following U.S. In Polar Exploration

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 10.—Much of the rest of the world is following America's post-war lead in probing the great wastes of the far north as a potential means of natural resources and national security.

Across the thousands of miles of Polar frontier, labelled by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd as America's first line of defense, scientific, exploration and military parties of at least a half-dozen major powers are familiarizing themselves with the terrain over which any future world war could be fought.

From the allied standpoint, Canada's development of her far north is perhaps the most significant. While the U. S. has built and maintains major air and weather bases in Labrador, Greenland and Newfoundland, the Canadians have shared jointly in many of the enterprises and have pushed even farther north in search of more information and more bases on which to predicate a polar defense strategy.

In the far North Atlantic, meanwhile, Russia has been reported to be heavily strengthening her so-called Spitzbergen bases under stood to be primarily used for the procurement of coal.

Military Defenses
Latest information from that area, however, indicates the USSR is backing up the leases with military strength. A first-line air base, anti-aircraft defenses, port facilities and garrison troops reportedly have been developed and strengthened in that area in recent months.

"Spitzbergen is generally regarded as valuable in both a defensive and offensive way holding a strong strategic position over northern Europe and western Russia as well as important Atlantic sea approaches to many of the nations. France, too, has entered the Arctic race. Scheduled to arrive in Greenland this week, on what is officially termed a weather mission, is a sizeable exploration party led by Jean Paul Victor, 35-year-old adventurer.

The party is to make its way across the Greenland ice gap to the Scoresby Sound region and will remain in Greenland throughout the winter. It is this area that is believed to have substantial uranium potentials.

The arrival of the Victor's French group will put the U. S., Canada and all the Scandinavian countries in the Greenland region of missions ranging from the maintenance of weather and navigational facilities to outright exploration. U. S. in Forefront

The U. S. and Canada are still in the forefront of the Polar development. The combined defense-communications line embraced by the arc of bases which includes airfields in Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland is the single substantial known military development in the area.

Allied scientific parties, working out from these bases, are assembling a mass of weather, navigation, ocean and currents, geodetic and survival information undreamed of a few short years ago.

Most northernmost of the present U. S. base-arc is Goose Bay, where the harbor is ice-locked from November until May and which depends for its communications entirely on the radio and aircraft units, as well as trans-Atlantic schedules, which regularly flow through Goose Bay despite the icy sea and land conditions.

Modern aircraft and skilled technicians and scientists are not only maintaining an important allied military necessity in the Arctic circle but are adding vastly to the once extremely limited store of information about the western hemisphere's northerly frontiers.

CATTLE BUSINESS

Sharp Increase In Drug Addiction Seen

By WILLIAM KERWIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Federal narcotics officials are seriously concerned today over a sharp increase in drug addiction among young people in some of the country's largest cities.

At least one top official called for a "continuing and intensified crackdown on dope peddlers" as the only effective way of combating the rise.

M. L. Harney, assistant to the U. S. commissioner of narcotics, told a reporter that up until two years ago the addiction trend over a 25 year period has been downward. But, he noted that the dope habit is becoming more prevalent among teen-agers and those in their early twenties than older persons.

New Addicts Found
Harney said that "We now have one addict where we used to have three, but a number of new addicts have been found in the younger age categories." He commented:

"It's not so much the result of the war as it is a general breakdown in enforcement and a feeling of dissatisfaction among young people out of control."

The narcotics official emphasized the problem has not assumed national proportions but is strongly in evidence in the congested sections of the large cities, such as New York and Chicago.

Harney said he would be against large-scale education of young people against the evils of dope. He explained that if it were taught in schools some would try using narcotics just out of curiosity. He urged "constant pressure" on the peddlers as the most effective remedy to the public.

Heroin "Favorite"
Heroin was classified as the "favorite drug" of addicts. Harney and Deputy Commissioner G. W. Cunningham reported that the quality of this narcotic was improved considerably recently.

During the war a small quantity of a one-half to one per cent solution of heroin sold for about $200. Now the same quantity of 30 to 50 per cent solution can be obtained for the same price, because of increased smuggling.

One feature of the postwar period has been the appearance of the individual smuggler, often a merchant seaman, who carries the stuff into the U. S. previously, Harney said. "The traffic was directed by a mastermind who operated on a highly organized basis and had contacts abroad."

Officials said they believed that New York is one of the big headquarters for the entry of dope which is later slipped out to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington and other cities.

Large Cotton Crop Forecast For 1949

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The Agriculture department Tuesday forecast a 1949 cotton crop of 15,524,000 bales.

The forecast is 78,000 bales or one-half of one per cent above the department's prediction a month ago.

The 1949 harvest would be the largest since 1937 and the seventh highest on record if department forecasts are borne out.

CHILD NEEDS HELP TO EMOTIONAL NEEDS

When a child's emotional needs are satisfactorily met, he will have a balanced, warm, and outgoing personality. A child needs love, security, and acceptance by his parents; he needs guidance by a person that he loves; and he needs a pattern by which to grow. The responsibility for meeting these three needs rests upon the shoulders of the child's parents, say family life experts, who believe that well-adjusted parents have little difficulty in satisfying these needs in their children.

A child needs the feeling that he is important and needed and that he has a place among his friends. Under crowded living conditions, it often is impossible to find jobs around the house that will give children a chance to assume responsibilities and feel needed and successful. Where space is limited, it may be difficult for the child to find a place for his own things and for entertaining his friends.

Families are social groups in which there are very intimate and personal relationships, often with too little privacy but many demands. Young people see the difference between family and outside relationships without understanding it. They often resent criticism from parents and relatives who demand a higher standard of behavior than is expected outside the home. This situation, with freedom outside and strongly contrasting strictness within, is quite different from the time when the family was the center of life.

Because youth is the non-conformist in contrast with other ages, it follows without thinking the lure of freedom, excitement, and entertainment the community offers. It is very important that the community be aroused to a recognition of the importance of youth and help to provide the fullest measure of proper attractions and satisfactions.

Plenty Of Supplies For Thanksgiving Day Menu

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A pre-holiday check on supplies of Thanksgiving Day goodies shows today that 1949's bounty is large enough to put a turkey in every pot, and stuffing in every citizen.

Good news for budget-wide householders is that this year's crop of turkeys is a near record, making it almost a foregone conclusion that the price will be right. Seems that high prices commanded by the extremely short 1948 crop encouraged many newcomers to enter the turkey production field. At the moment, the outlook is less bright for the small family's turkey platter. Most producers appear to be taking advantage of low feed prices to fatten their birds to medium and heavy weights.

Fewer Small Birds

This could well mean scarcity in the midst of plenty—that is, there might be fewer small turkeys than the market demands with the light weights commanding premium prices.

Gourmets with a preference for light meat will be interested to know that improved strains of broadbreasted turkeys, in both heavy and light weights, are reaching the market in substantial numbers this year.

As for prices, officials expect wholesale and retail trends to follow the pattern set at the producer level. Currently the farmer is getting about 31 cents a pound for birds compared with 47 cents last year.

Cranberries Plentiful

But one wholesaler remarked sagely: "You can't tell what will happen to prices when the Thanksgiving rush starts. There's going to be a scramble for small birds."

With the respect to the traditional Thanksgiving trimmings, cranberries are plentiful in both fresh and canned form with prices running below the 1948 season. Nuts, including walnuts, almonds and filberts, are in larger supply than last year. The crop of pecans many be smaller, but prices of all four major tree nuts are expected to be under last year.

Supplies of celery, sweet potatoes and onions are expected to be more than adequate. Nobody bothers to keep official tab on pumpkin production so the prospect for holiday pie-making can't be forecast accurately.

Livestock Farming Return Urged By Former Secretary

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—(INS)

—A return to livestock farming from grain production was urged Monday night by a former secretary of agriculture.

Advocating the farm policy switch was Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, (D-N. M.) who told the National Catholic Rural Life Conference in Columbus that the nation already has "alarming surpluses" of corn and wheat.

At the same time, Anderson called for a shift to better conservation programs and lashed out at "the suitcase farmer, ripping up prairie lands in the middle west to plant wheat (but) makes no permanent home in our communities."

There is evidence that man or his ancestors once had three eyes.

Color Television Tests Postponed

F.C.C. Delays Tests From Nov. 14 To Nov. 21 And 22, It Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The Federal Communications Commission today postponed a side-by-side demonstration of two major types of color television to November 21 and 22.

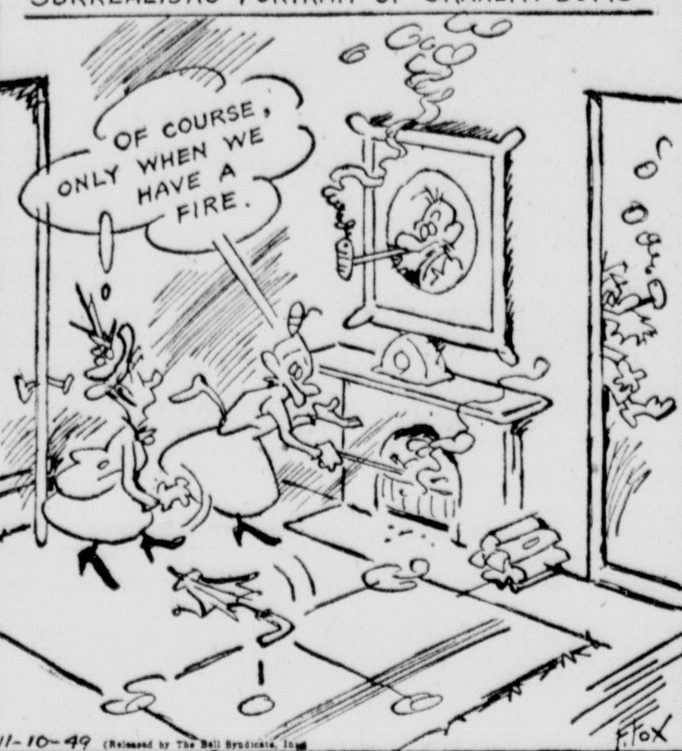

The demonstration, scheduled earlier for the week of November 14, will provide comparisons of color systems developed by the Columbia Broadcasting system and the Radio Corporation of America. Simultaneously, Allen B. Dumont laboratories will present its black and white reception.

Meanwhile, the FCC denied a Dumont petition requesting a postponement of the demonstrations until the week of February 6. A second side-by-side showing of color television is set for February 8. This showing will include a third color system, that of Color Television, Inc., of San Francisco, Calif. FCC hearings on color TV go into the seventh week today. After the November comparative demonstration the hearings will recess until Feb. 6, on which day the FCC will view separately the CTI system.

Governor Declares Election Result Doesn't Show Trend

Points Out That McKeesport And Erie Went Republican; Voting On Local Issues

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Off-year election results in Pennsylvania did not indicate political trends since they were of "purely" local character Gov. James H. Duff said today.

"Best evidence for this is the contradictory character of results throughout the state," the governor said, citing the examples of industrial McKeesport which elected a Republican slate and the city of Erie which went completely Republican.

As to the Democratic clean sweep of row offices in Philadelphia, Duff said "the voters have expressed their opinion very definitely and I have nothing more to add."

Georgia and Delaware were the only two of the 13 states that did not make powder for use in the Revolutionary war.

Gubitchev's Plan
Will Be Baffled
By U.S. Interpreter

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A government interpreter was to be on hand today before Federal Court Judge Bondy to translate for Valentin A. Gubitchev, Soviet co-defendant of Judith Coplon, whose knowledge of English suddenly and mysteriously vanished.

A pre-trial hearing in the espionage conspiracy proceedings against the moody Russian engineer and attractive Judith Coplon, was scheduled to resume after Gubitchev's lapse of memory delayed matters yesterday.

Speaking in Russian, the suspended United Nations employee repeatedly refused to answer whether or not he was ready for trial.

Special U. S. Attorney Raymond P. Wheatly said the government was read and told the court.

"Gubitchev speaks English well," The Russian had no trouble speaking that language when he appeared Oct. 17 before Federal Judge Leibell.

Alcoholics Usually Found In Low Income Groups--Sociologist

Dr. Robert E. Clark Makes Study Of Psychosis Commitment Rates

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 10.—Alcoholics usually are found among the lower income class.

Dr. Robert E. Clark, assistant professor of sociology at the Pennsylvania State college, reported this fact after a study of alcoholic psychoses commitment rates for Chicago during the period 1922-34.

In general, Dr. Clark discovered, the low alcoholic psychoses commitment rates are found in occupational group which have relatively high income and prestige, and relatively high commitment rates are associated with relatively low income and prestige.

Aware that individuals in the higher income group often are cared for privately, rather than committed to institutions, Dr. Clark took this fact into consideration in his study.

Summing up his finds, Dr. Clark explained that indirectly his data supported the view that alcoholic psychoses are more prevalent in occupations which require less responsibility.

"This may mean that the man who is an alcoholic and on the road to alcoholic psychoses is of such a personality type that he shuns responsibility. It may also mean that the alcoholic, because he is an alcoholic, cannot find employment in jobs which require responsibility."

Lady Astor Knocks Nation's Common Man

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Lady Astor told a group of university women Monday night she doesn't think much of the common man's "insistence on sex in this modern strip-tease age."

The American-born society matron, speaking at a fund-raising affair at her home, said educated persons must do something about it.

She offered no detailed cure, but warned:

"We've got to stop paying too much attention to the common man. We've got into trouble through uneducated people. It is the uncommon people who do things."

She said she classes herself as "one of the common people" and said she likes them, "but it is the uncommon people I follow."

PARENTAL BLESSING AFTER MARRIAGE

"My husband and I were married six weeks ago, quietly before a Justice of the Peace. After the wedding, we both telegraphed his mother, who was not surprised since she knew of our plans. I have never met his mother, distance prohibiting our meeting. As yet, we have never had any message from her and we are both very hurt. Soon she will visit her sister whose home is near mine. Do you think I should call on her there or wait for some overture from her?"

Answer: Of course, your mother-in-law should have telegraphed or written her blessing immediately on receipt of your message. This she should have done regardless of her personal feelings about the marriage. Perhaps she is a reticent, retiring soul who is too shy to write. There are such people! Here is my suggestion: When she comes to town, have your husband telephone to her, suggesting that he take you around for a meeting. If she refuses, there is nothing you can do but take it silently. But surely no one could be so rude. So I predict that she will welcome you with open arms. However, be sure to have your husband telephone to her before your meeting.

Question: Do you think beige is all right for an informal bride? Everyone is urging me to wear blue but, frankly, I prefer the way I look in beige. Would black accessories be all right with it? For a rectory wedding witnessed only by the immediate families, is it all right to send out announcements? If so, must they be sent to out-of-town friends only?

Answer: Since you prefer the way you look in beige, by all means wear it. On her wedding day a bride should certainly look and feel her best. It may be combined with either black or brown accessories. Announcements may be sent after any kind of marriage, especially one like yours, witnessed only by the families. They may be sent to all relatives and friends not invited to the wedding.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped addressed envelopes.

School; Visual Education Aids
Displayed During Evening

Open house was observed Wednesday evening at Croton school in connection with Education week which was observed by all the schools. Over 300 parents and friends of the school children were on hand to witness the demonstrations.

The guests were registered by a group of sixth grade children with other children directing the parents to their respective class rooms where the exhibitions were on display. Work that had been accomplished by the youngsters was shown in the class rooms.

Art students demonstrated several phases of their work and the mothers of the boys and girls were presented pins which were made by the crafty art pupils. A visual aid machine display took place with the various types of visual aid work demonstrated.

Supervising and planning the open house celebration was Arthur H. Walker, principal of the Croton and North street schools.

Most Of Miners

Return To Work

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—An estimated three-fourths of the nation's striking bituminous coal miners returned to work today as ordered by John L. Lewis.

Coal industry officials said absenteeism was unusually low this morning in mines which reopened. The remainder of the pits were delayed in resuming production for various reasons, but are expected to be in operation by Monday, with 17 days of Lewis' truce remaining.

Gov. Driscoll Looms As Possibility For G.O.P. Nomination

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—

(INS)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, swept into office for the second time with the help of a normally Democratic Jersey City vote, loomed today as a Republican presidential possibility in 1952.

New Jersey gave the 47-year-old Haddonfield lawyer a plurality of 78,071 over Frank "I Am the Law"

Hague's candidate, State Sen. Elmer H. Wene, Vineland chicken breeder.

With his victory, national attention is now focused on Driscoll. His close friend, Guy C. Gabrielson, is chairman of the Republican National committee.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Away From The Nest

Children grow up. One of the ways in which they show this is by not staying around home as much as they did when younger. Bill pals around with the boys. Lucille is almost always with her girl friends. This "growing away" from the family is perfectly natural and normal. It does not indicate that in some way or other we have fallen down in bringing up the youngsters.

Nonetheless, it is still "hard to take" for most parents.

Recently our seventeen-year-old boy returned from three months as a camp counselor in northern California. Within 10 days he was due to leave for the university. A new girl friend, reunion with his high-school classmates, and a variety of last-minute preparations for college meant that we had him with us at the beach for only a couple of days. At other times in the last five or six years we have had similar experiences with him and his twin sisters.

Yes, it's hard, but we must content ourselves with a more mature companionship with our grown-up children, realizing that in our society it is desirable that they move out of the home nest.

Japanese Cherry Trees Are Blooming

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—It isn't balmy fall weather or plant hormones. Some Japanese cherry trees are just that way.

Horticulturists are making that patient explanation again this fall to startled visitors accustomed to associate delicate pink blossoms along the Potomac river with springtime.

About 100 or so of the thousands of cherry trees which help to make Washington famous are two-timers. Appropriately dubbed autumnalis, they bloom in both spring and fall.

Educators Warn On 'Educational Crisis'

By EDWIN HOFFMAN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Twenty top U. S. educators, including Dwight D. Eisenhower, warned the nation today of seven problems they believe are causing a national "educational crisis."

The policies commission of the National Education Association called for immediate government and citizens' action to remedy "serious deficiencies" in school facilities—primarily an acute shortage of school buildings and teaching personnel.

Other educators on the commission include O. C. Carmichael, president, the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, New York City; Harvard President James B. Conant of Cambridge, Mass.; and New York City Superintendent of Schools William Jansen. Eisenhower is president of Columbia University.

Alarming Tone

The commission's prepared statement sounds an alarming tone on the educational prospects for the "oncoming flood of school children." It points out that a sharp decline in birth after the 1946-47 peak has not occurred as predicted by the Census Bureau and adds:

"More children are now enrolled in the elementary schools than ever before in history. Millions more children will soon be knocking at the doors of the nation's schools."

"The war babies of 1942 and 1943 are the first and second graders of the current school year. It appears probable that enrollments in elementary schools will continue to increase annually for another decade."

The annual birth rate has soared from less than two and one-half million registered in 1940 to an estimated 3,600,000 for this year. The commission previously has estimated that two million children are suffering "seriously impaired educational opportunity" as a direct result of the teacher and building shortages.

Present education shortages were tagged by the group as an inheritance from the depressions of the 1930's and the war years of the 1940's.

Among Problems

It predicted that the schools of 1959—barring catastrophes—will be taking care of 35 or 36 million children—exceeding present enrollments by over six million. The commission stated:

1. The educational needs arising from the spectacular birth rate call for both immediate public action and long-range planning.
2. Present shortages in school buildings and personnel should be determined and future needs forecast.
3. School facilities and parents should advise and assist young people to enter the teaching profession.
4. Both standards and salaries for teaching should be raised.
5. The public should join with teachers to eliminate makeshift expedients such as overcrowding schools and employing unqualified teachers.
6. More funds for school construction should be provided immediately by local, state and federal governments.
7. The state and federal governments should provide increased funds to help meet the rising costs of education.

YOUNGER AND TALLER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(INS)—When the nation's capital hires new cops in the future they'll be younger and taller.

The district commissioners tightened up on regulations so that henceforth metropolitan Washington's policemen must be 30 instead of 32 years old and five feet, eight inches tall instead of only five feet seven.

Traffic consultants estimate that in a city of 1,500,000 persons, the citizens pay $120,000,000 each year for private car travel, but only $18,000,000 for motor bus, trackless trolley and street car riding.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS)—A broken 4,000 volt trolley cable fell across the automobile driven by Hugo Mueller, 34, and burned paint from the hood and fenders before it slid to the ground breaking the circuit. Mueller, who stepped from the auto, diagnosed himself as being uninjured.

He's a Chicago doctor.

Warren Challenges Undeclared Season For New Castle 'Canes

Twenty Gridders Will Play Final Home Game

Twenty New Castle Senior High football players will be putting in their last home appearance on the Taggart Stadium turf Friday night.

These represent the nucleus of a squad that was not expected to go much of any place but has already earned itself a shot at the WPIAL title in a playoff game at Pitt Stadium November 26.

CHARLES MANCINE

TOM MANGINO

Good Attitude
A paragraph or two could be justifiably written about each of these boys, their attitude and their value of the current edition of the undefeated Red Hurricane. Even the occasional substitute has played an important role in this year's campaign. The player who sees action only occasionally has participated in tough scrimmage drills throughout the week, he has learned to run the plays of the opposition, and he has hustled the first team man ahead of him to play a better game. No matter what happens this Friday, win, lose or draw.

the boys have been a credit to their team, their school and their town.

Six boys from the varsity who will be counted on for starting assignments next season are Don Tate, John Roussos, Ray Latsko, Mitchell Charles, Dan DeFalco and John Sansone.

Meanwhile preparations for the actual contest with Warren have proceeded according to schedule. Tonight will find the Hurricane in game uniforms drilling under the stadium lights in a loosening up workout and a chalk talk.

Scrimmage was the order of the day Wednesday.

Pep Meeting
Also in the way of final preparations for the prestige battle against Warren was the pep meeting at senior high school this morning.

No school is scheduled for tomorrow because of the Armistice Day holiday. Ralph Gardner, former faculty manager at senior high, was on the speaking schedule.

The team and coaches alike are determined to win this game against Warren. Despite the poor record of the visitors, they have played some of the toughest high school opposition in the country and always seem to be getting their best against the Red Hurricane.

Because there are two weeks of practice remaining after the Warren game, the coaching staff has concentrated only on the Warren game this week and the none too optimistic scouting reports that have been returned from the Ohio city.

National amateur champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales is going to get more than folding money for transferring his allegiance to professional tennis. He will receive a tennis lesson to boot.

Titans Will Be Well Supported At Grove City

Westminster Students Organizing Mass Exodus To Grove City Saturday For Battle

When the Westminster College grid team tangles with Grove City College Saturday at Grove City, the Titans won't be lacking support from the grandstands.

A mass trek of Westminster students to the game is being organized by the college student council under the unofficial title "Operation Migration."

Groves Favored
The Westminster eleven will need all the support it can get when it runs up against the highly favored Groves who have lost only one game this season. Grove City has won five and lost one while the Titans have two wins against three losses and two ties.

Last Saturday while Westminster was losing to Waynesburg 27-6, the Groves defeated a strong Juniata team 13-6.

On an all-time basis Grove City holds a decided edge. Of the 54 games played between the two teams since 1892, Grove City has won 27 to the Titan's 20. Seven contests have resulted in ties.

Boston Bruins Again Defeated

(By International News Service)
The New York Rangers and the Boston Bruins seem to lack the "win" punch thus far in the National Hockey League season.

The cellar-dwelling Bruins dropped their sixth game of the campaign last night as they bowed to the Chicago Black Hawks, 3 to 1.

The Rangers didn't lose, but they didn't win either. A third period goal by Edgar Laprade gave the Blueshirts a 2 to 2 tie with the Montreal Canadiens. It was the Rangers' fourth deadlock of the campaign.

Maurice Richard got both Montreal goals in the first stanza to raise his all-time total to 216.

Springfield Club Members Banquet

One Hundred Attend Fete Held At Leesburg School Last Night

Members of the Springfield Township Sportsman's club of Mercer county, and their families last night banqueted at Leesburg school with 100 persons in attendance. Mercer and Lawrence County Fish Protector Clinton B. White was the toastmaster. Paul E. Rea is president of the club.

Rev. W. A. Lloyd, of Leesburg Presbyterian church, invoked blessing on these present, and following a delicious dinner, Mr. White called upon persons as follows, who made brief talks:

Has 230 Members
E. S. Hassler, publisher of Allied Newspapers, Grove City; Charles Norris, editor, Allied Newspapers, Grove City; Lawrence County Sheriff Frank Coen; Samuel Weigle, Mercer county game protector; Cal Hooper, game protector of Lawrence county; Elmer Brown, president, northwest division, State Federation of Sportsmen and Ed Fritz, News sports editor, New Castle.

President Rea presented honorary life memberships to Samuel Weigle, Ted Corvey, E. S. Hassler, Attorney James A. Stranahan and Hiram Drake, Joseph Bracken and Clinton B. White.

The club owns 126 acres and leases another large plot and proposes to erect a club house. The club has 230 members, the officers being: President, Paul E. Rea; vice president, Frank Dydek; secretary, Jerry Ward; treasurer, Harry Simpson and directors, Clarence Myers, Paul Collins, Lawrence Wardman, William Hensel and Robert Craft.

Felton-Pellone Battle To Draw

Detroit Decision Causes Confusion, Crowd Boos Verdict, Felton Favored

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Any doubt as to Lester Felton's right to campaign in big time boxing was eliminated today as a result of his 10-round draw last night with New York's Tony Pellone.

In fact, where many booed his recent victory over No. 2 welterweight Gid Gavilan in the same ring, they also booed lustily when the draw decision was announced. It was the general impression of the crowd—and virtually all newsmen covering the fight—that Felton had won.

Causes Confusion
The decision resulted in considerable confusion after the final bell had sounded. Someone pointed out that under Michigan boxing rules the fighter with the most points at the end of a fight should be the winner.

Two referees, Johnny Weber and Lou Jallo, acting as judges, scored the fight 50 points for each fighter while Referee Clarence Rosen gave Felton 54 points to 46 for Pellone.

After a half hour "hubbub" with the officials, managers, and members of the athletic board, Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens announced the decision would stand because "in the past we have gone by the majority rule system and it worked out because no two officials ever voted for a draw in a big bout to my recollection."

Syracuse Trims Olympians 100-73

Anderson Packers In Three Overtime Periods 102 To 99 Over Blackhawks

(By International News Service)
The Syracuse Nationals are the hottest club in the National Basketball Association.

The Nationals, leaders of the Eastern division of the league, made it four straight last night when they humbled the Indianapolis Olympians, 100 to 73.

Win 102 to 99
Anderson's Duffey Packers won the evening's thriller by besting the Tri-City Blackhawks, 102 to 99 after three overtime periods.

In the second game the Chicago Stags defeated Rochester 75-72 in another overtime game.

Ramblers Meet Mohawks Tonight

The New Haven Ramblers take to their home ice against the Cincinnati Mohawks tonight in defense of their shaky Eastern division lead of the American Hockey league.

While the Ramblers were idle, the Buffalo Bisons blasted the Mohawks, 7-1, last night to climb into a first place tie with New Haven.

Hornets Win
Indianapolis, a game behind the runnerup St. Louis Flyers in the western sector, has a chance for a deadlock with the Airmen by dropping the Providence Reds tonight. St. Louis and Cleveland, leaders of the West by two full games, do not play until tomorrow night. Springfield edged Hershey, 4-3, and Pittsburgh shaded St. Louis, 4-3, in the other league games played last night.

METHODIST CAGERS PRACTICE TONIGHT

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

PROFESSIONAL golfers of the United States have named Sammy Snead as number one golfer. Cary Middlecoff was voted runner-up. Middlecoff ruined Snead's chances of a grand title slam by beating him out of the National Open crown. Johnny Palmer, Tom O'Shanter champion, was named third in the Golfers' balloting. . . . For the info' of Herman Steinbrink, Grizzlys matrons bear young every other year and the young go into hibernation with her the first year. . . . With football nearing its tag end, basketball is in sight. . . . Contract between the Washington Redskins and Coach John Welchel has been terminated by mutual consent. . . . Robert L. Layne, Texan, has replaced another Texan Sammy Baugh as the top aerialist artist in the National Football league. Baugh now trails Layne by a point and a half under the league's inverse system of rating. . . . Sandy Saddler, Harlem featherweight, won another fight, the latest at Toledo, over LeRoy Willis, Detroit, in 10 rounds. Sonny Horne, Niles, who boxed here, dropped a decision at Newark, N. Fight managers who infest Stillman's gymnasium, watching the antics of boxers who come in varying shapes and sizes, never get a glimpse these days of that which is as precious as gold itself.

Irish Are Heavy Favorites Over North Carolina

More Than 67,000 Will Pack Yankee Stadium For Game Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The almost phenomenal invincibility of mighty Notre Dame plus the questionable availability of Charley Justice combined today to make the Irish's New York encounter Saturday with North Carolina a little more than an exhibition.

The dubious, diehard Tar Heel adherents and just plain guys who like underdogs, could get 30 points for their thoughts. But it was nothing compared to what was being offered for a couple of tickets for Notre Dame's first showing in the big town since 1946.

More than 67,000 persons are expected to pack Yankee stadium for this mismatch which promises little more than a first hand view of Frank Leahy's great football machine.

This was not so a month ago. At this time, the game promised to be one of the glittering attractions of the season.

But since then, Carl Snavely's boys have been knocked off their vaunted perch. Louisiana State and Tennessee have beaten the Tar Heels. The celebrated Choo Choo Justice has been slowed down to a limp by injuries.

The South Benders, meanwhile, have gone 34 games without a defeat and have firmly entrenched themselves as the No. 1 team in the nation.

AAC Scouts Watch Temple Halfback

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Scouts from the professional All-American conference have sent "feelers" to Bill Barnardo, Temple University left halfback.

Barnardo caught the eye of scouts by his all-around play and a 90-yard touchdown sprint in the Owl's game with Boston University last week.

He'll end his college career next Saturday when Temple faces Penn State in Philadelphia. Observers expect a keen duel between the Owl star and Frank Rogel, Penn State's "Mr. Offense."

A. H. Forbes, associate professor of electrical engineering at the Pennsylvania State College, has not missed a home football game since 1921. The Boston College game last Saturday was the 128th football game he has seen on Beaver Field.

Truman's Veto Disappoints Anglers-Conservationists

By CARL A. ROGAN (International News Service Staff Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—President Truman's veto of a bill which would have appropriated about $125,000 annually for the improvement of public fishing in Pennsylvania came as a disappointment to many of the nation's anglers and conservationists.

The Dingell-Johnson Bill—culminating a 10-year battle for improvement of fish restoration and management projects—was designed along the lines of the Pittman-Robertson Act which this year will provide $9,913,397 for development and restoration of wildlife in all the 48 states.

During the 1948-49 fiscal year ending June 30, the states have benefited from more than $10,780,000 from the Pittman-Robertson Act to improve wildlife habitat, purchase of land and other things. This year's Pittman allotment to Pennsylvania will be $431,889—third only to Texas and California, which will receive $495,670 and $478,584 respectively.

The Dingell Bill would have ridden on the same order, and would have increased in benefits from year to year.

Both the House and Senate passed the Dingell-Johnson Bill, which conservationists and the fishing world considered one of the most important pieces of conservation legislation in years.

Use Excise Tax
A 10-per cent excise tax on fishing tackle, which has gone into the general funds of the United States treasury in the past, was to be diverted to fish restoration work.

Under the bill, three-fourths of the money needed for the improvements of fishing projects would be paid by the federal government and the remaining quarter by the individual state from its fishing license funds and other sources.

Important features included in the bill would have been stream improvement programs to increase the angling possibilities; a closer checkup of stocked fish from hatcheries; building of more and better

Notre Dame Athletic Head Denies Schedule Worries

By LAWTON CARVER (International News Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Edward Krause, the director of athletics at Notre Dame, is now on record as saying that Notre Dame has no schedule problems in football, and he may be right. Somehow it just doesn't look that way.

If they would have you believe, for example, that the break with Tulane was merely a falling-through of negotiations on both sides, and nothing else, why they may be absolutely right.

Very Peculiar
I should say peculiar though, that it looked peculiar coming as it did in the form of an announcement from Tulane three days after Notre Dame had smashed the socks off Tulane on the football field.

If Notre Dame has no schedule problems, why aren't the Irish playing a game every year in New York the way they want to do?

This Saturday's game with North Carolina is the first game in a two-year agreement which will take the 1950 game to South Bend. So, pending announcement to the contrary, Notre Dame hasn't been in New York since the last Army game in 1946 and won't be in New York again for some time after this year.

Fordham Shies
There was some talk about an arrangement with Fordham, but the people at Fordham don't seem to think any such arrangement can be seen in the immediate future.

Army won't play Notre Dame, and there seem to be no negotiations with Columbia. That leaves maybe Brooklyn College.

The only solution, therefore, is for Notre Dame to make deals whereby it brings teams like North Carolina into New York. That's all right. A lot of people don't mind it any more than they minded the long Notre Dame-Army series at Yankee Stadium.

Many folks are down on Army because the Cadets no longer play Notre Dame, and because they play what is actually a soft schedule. People say look at Navy. Earl Blaik, the Army coach, has looked at Navy.

Cornell Favored Over Dartmouth In Annual Tilt

Undeclared Big Red May Find Dartmouth's Indians On Warpath Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The presence of lalapaaloozas, like Notre Dame-North Carolina and Army-Penn., can distract little if at all from a tight-fisted football showdown at Hanover, N. H., that has eastern fans by the heels.

On the one hand, there is Dartmouth, once-beaten, but winner of five straight, and the beloved home team.

On the other, there's Cornell, undefeated and the favorite, if only in name.

Capacity Crowd

They get together at Hanover Saturday, and rustic little Memorial stadium, capacity 16,400, never had it so many. The biggest crowd in Dartmouth's football history is on tap for this Ivy league smashup.

The way these two teams have matched each other job for job throughout the season would chill your ears.

Cornell beat Colgate 39-27, but Dartmouth beat Colgate 27-13. Dartmouth beat Harvard 27-13, but Cornell beat Harvard 33-14. Cornell beat Yale 48-14, but Dartmouth beat Yale 34-13. Dartmouth beat Columbia 33-14, but Cornell beat Columbia 54-0.

MACCABEES TO MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Maccabees will hold their team organization meeting Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock at 216 East Meyer avenue.

At the meeting plans will be completed for the coming basketball season. The Maccabees expect to have a strong team in the Midlet Recreation league.

The following players are asked to attend:

Ed Solomon, Mel Solomon, Al Greenberg, Sid Shenkan, Sid Steiner, Lloyd Skole, Keith Skole, Marsh Ginsburg and Lindy Slovovsky.

Now is the time for all good men to decide, as they do at weekly intervals these days, that there should be peace between the National Football League and the All-American Conference.

American League Has 289 Players Signed Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Only two clubs in the American baseball league today are short of the 40-player limit with a total of 298 players reserved to the clubs for the 1950 season.

The world champion New York Yankees have 39 men listed, while the Cleveland Indians, nudged off the pedestal by the Yankees, have the same number.

Boston's Red Sox, according to the junior circuit reserve list released today from the office of league president Will Harridge, have 38 reserves.

The Philadelphia Athletics also have 38, while the Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns have 37 each. Washington trails with 33.

121 Pitchers

Pitchers are numerous among the 298 total, with Boston contributing 20 moundmen towards the grand total of 121 hurlers listed. Boston's second-purifier finish in 1949 was attributed partially to early season mound difficulties.

Bessemer Tackles Freedom Tonight

Bessemer High football team plays its last regularly scheduled game tonight at home. Freedom High will provide the opposition in an eight o'clock contest.

Coach Ciccone's Cementers have won six and dropped two to date. Tonight's game in no way jeopardizes the proposed tri-county playoff game with Zellenople.

Freedom has scored in every game played this season and has held its own against Class A schools. The Bulldogs record of four wins, three losses and two ties, belittles the actual strength of the club. At any rate, the Cementers have drilled vigorously this week to ward off the possibility of an upset.

Sievers Not For Sale
The Chicago White Sox list 14 pitchers, three catchers, nine outfielders and 11 infielders, headed by Luke Appling. St. Louis named 12 pitchers, two catchers, a dozen infielders and seven outfielders, with Roy Sievers, a 1949 rookie discovery. The Browns have thoughtfully hung a "no sale" sign on Sievers.

Detroit is reported looking for some infield bargains in the winter market to support George Kell, star third-sacker.

Penn State engages in what is widely recognized as one of the most comprehensive athletic programs in the East. Intercollegiate schedules are maintained in 16 varsity sports, and opponents last year came from 50 different colleges and universities.

Speculation On
Gelder's Future
 Liquor Control Board Chair-man's Term Of Office
 Expires November 29
OTHER NEWS OF
STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 10.—(INS)—
 Expiration of the term of Liquor Control Board Chairman Frederick T. Gelder November 29 has prompted speculation whether he will continue in public life . . .
 The 75-year-old Republican spent 20 years in the General Assembly prior to 1939 and for the past 10 years has been associated with the world's largest liquor monopoly . . .
 Gelder has headed the LCB for the past eight years and during that time he has weathered much criticism from Democrats in Republican-dominated legislatures but never has his honesty and integrity been questioned . . . Governor Duff may reappoint him or he may choose a successor or he may allow Gelder to continue serving without a formal reappointment as allowed by law . . . Gelder may decide against further public service in which case Governor Duff can round out the three-member board with his appointees . . . Earlier, Duff appointed Frank D. Armstrong, former state narcotics officer, and David H. Perry, the governor's secretary from January,
 1947, until last April.

The National Labor Relations
 Board has advised the State Department of Labor and Industry that in the three months ended
 September 30 there were 52 collective bargaining elections held in Pennsylvania . . . Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor won 19 while those allied with the Congress of Industrial Organizations dominated 16 . . . No union has voted in 12 elections
 while in four others the workers chose alliance with unaffiliated unions . . . The NLRB said 52 cases involving unfair labor practices were filed during the three-month period . . . Twenty-one were lodged by AFL unions and 13 by CIO locals . . . The balance was made up of complaints by unaffiliated unions or individuals.

The State Game Commission is worried about the "great take of small game" and whether the supply will be depleted . . . Tremendous gun pressure coupled with an army of more than one million licensed hunters have prompted the worry . . . "While there was a fair increase in small game this year over that of 1948," the commission reported, "game administrators are apprehensive lest unusual gun pressure this fall may so much decrease the brood stock that would normally survive the season that next year's crop will be less than could normally be anticipated."

One of the features of the 1950
 primary election will be the selection by Republicans and Democrats of state committee members . . . Should either party be split by a factional fight, the committee elections will be just about as important as nominations for the major offices at stake next year
 . . . Both committees will reorganize in June, 1950.

The United Veterans Organization call for a special session of the General Assembly to consider a method of paying off the debt which would be incurred should the half-billion dollar soldier bonus be approved November 8 has not found any support at the state capitol . . . Bonus proponents claim the debt can be retired from ordinary state income but the opponents contend a tax will be necessary . . . During the 1949 session of the legislature, the legislative leaders of Republicans and Democrats said the time was not at hand to discuss the problem while Governor Duff has said it will be a matter for the assembly meeting in 1951 . . . There has not been a special session of the legislature since 1944 when lawmakers met and adopted a model soldier vote
 law in exactly five days.
